Clients' Rights and Obligations under the Taxation Laws

As a client of our organisation, we are obliged to advise you of your rights and obligations under the taxation laws in relation to the services we provide to you. Set out below is a brief explanation of the main areas of the taxation system you should be aware of. If you have any concerns or issues with any of matters discussed below, please feel free to contact us.

The self-assessment system

I understand the Australian tax system operates as a self-assessment system. This means that when I lodge a tax return, Fringe Benefits Tax (FBT) return or Business Activity Statement (BAS), the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) accepts the information in my return at face-value and issues me with an assessment notice based on that information. I understand that this does not mean the assessment is final as the ATO can conduct a review or audit of the information provided in my return at a later time, subject to the time limits discussed in the topic below.

Record keeping

In order for you to be able to lodge my return, I understand it is my responsibility to provide you with complete and accurate records. Where I cannot do that, I am aware you may be unable to prepare and lodge my return. I understand Tax Agents are subject to a Professional Code of Conduct contained in the Tax Agent Services Act 2009, which prevents them from acting for a client where insufficient records or information exists so as to be able to determine the amount of the client's income or deductions.

I confirm that I am aware that I must demonstrate that I have incurred an expense for income producing purposes. In addition, I am aware of the stringent substantiation legislation I must satisfy in relation to work, car and business travel expenses.

In addition, I am aware that I must obtain original receipts and keep them for a minimum of five years from the date my return is lodged. The receipts must contain the following details:

- name of supplier
- amount of expense
- nature of goods and services (noting the specific type of items purchased or expenditure incurred which I am able to personally record up to the date of lodgement of my return where not adequately noted by the supplier)
- date of expense (which I am able to personally record where not noted by the supplier), and
- the date of the documents.

I also understand that you reserve the right to question any claims for deductions or credits that in your reasonable judgment might be considered as being excessive, and you may ask for more substantiation or records to prove that such a claim is allowable under the law. If you believe that a claim is excessive and cannot be substantiated you reserve the right not to include such a claim in my income tax returns or BAS, but I will have the right to lodge an objection after receiving my notice of assessment.

Income from sources in and out of Australia for the year of income

I understand that as an Australian resident I must declare income from all sources, in and out of Australia, including net capital gains received, for the year of income in my tax return.

Apportionment

Where items are used for both business and private purposes, e.g. car, mobile telephone, home telephone, computer etc., I have records to verify my business usage claim. In addition, my employer will verify that it was necessary to incur such expenditure in earning my assessable income. Further, I have instructed you to prepare the return based on me being able to produce these records, if required.

The Commissioner's ability to amend an assessment

I understand that the ATO accepts the information lodged in my return at face value and they have the power to amend the assessment if they find it to be incorrect.

Penalties to apply with incorrect returns

I understand that additional tax, penalties, interest and possible prosecution action may be taken against me by the ATO if I provide details which lead to an incorrect tax return being lodged.

In addition, I am aware that an important feature of the new tax agent services regime which commenced on 1 March 2010 is the provision of a "safe harbour" protection from penalties in certain circumstances for taxpayers who engage registered tax agents. I understand that in order to obtain the benefits of "safe harbour" protection, I must provide you with "all relevant taxation information" to enable accurate statements to be provided to the Australian Taxation Office.

Right to seek a Private Binding Ruling

I understand that when preparing my return, there may have been issues that are not clear under the tax laws. I am aware where those issues have been pointed out, I have a right to request a Private Binding Ruling from the ATO. Upon providing the ATO with all the relevant facts, they will provide me with a ruling setting out their view on the proper tax treatment of the issue requested to be ruled upon.

Objecting against an assessment

I understand if the ATO issues me with an assessment that I do not agree with, I have the right to lodge an objection against that assessment. I am aware the objection must be lodged with the ATO within either two or four years.

I understand that where the ATO issues an amended assessment, the period for objecting is the greater of:

- 60 days from the time the amended assessment is received; or
- two or four years (whichever is applicable) from the time the original assessment was received.

I understand if I remain dissatisfied with the outcome of the objection, I have the right to have the matter reviewed by the Administrative Appeals Tribunal or to appeal the matter to the Federal Court.

Onus of proof falls on the taxpayer

I am aware that in any disputed assessment before the court or the Administrative Appeals Tribunal, the onus of proof is placed on the taxpayer. In other words, if the Commissioner asserts that my income should include a certain amount or that a deduction claimed in a return is not allowed, it will be up to me to establish that the Commissioner's view is incorrect.

Declaration

I further confirm that:

- I am aware of the procedures to follow if a document is lost or destroyed;
- I may be required to verify any income or expense item noted in my return in the event of an ATO audit;
- I understand the Substantiation Schedules I completed for all work, car and travel expense claims under self-assessment;
- I understand that, for the purposes of obtaining “safe harbour” protection, it remains my responsibility to properly record matters relating to my tax affairs and to bring all of the relevant facts to your attention in order to show reasonable care; and
- I have read and understood the return prepared for me.

I declare that:

- I have disclosed, and you have returned, all of the income including net capital gains which I have earned/received, for 2018/2019 income year.
- All income declared, claims for deductions and tax offsets/rebates included in my return are based on my specific instructions and advice that I satisfy the relevant taxation requirements.
- I have all receipts or documentation necessary to substantiate the above claims and I will make them available if required by the Tax Office; and
- You have clarified what written evidence (including car/travel records) will be required during an audit and penalties, (including prosecution) that may be applied if incorrect claims are identified in an audit situation.
